PROJECT MANAGER | HUGHES MARINO CM, LEED GREEN ASSOCIATE

MATT RENAULT is a project manager for Hughes Marino CM. He earned a degree in construction management from California State University, Chico.

A seasoned project manager, Matt has valuable experience with private and commercial construction. His multifaceted construction expertise includes scheduling, document control, project management, field coordination, quality control, pre-construction services, construction means and methods, construction cost forecasting, estimating, contract negotiation, contract administration, cost management, and project cost estimating and control.

Prior to joining Hughes Marino, Matt worked for Whiting-Turner on Kaiser San Diego Medical Center's $250 million program, where he worked as a project manager and superintendent and successfully managed multiple healthcare construction projects from inception to completion, including technical MEP building and seismic retrofits. In this role he gained extensive knowledge and experience navigating the OSHPD system, and delivered quality healthcare facilities to clients on schedule and within budget.

As a project lead, Matt's notable tenant improvement projects include: Jewish Family Services (a 40,000 square foot, multi-faceted construction project involving three tenant improvement phases and three site phases, which brought two neighboring buildings together and added a commercial kitchen); Family Health Centers (ground-up construction of a two-story, tilt-up medical office building with a central plant, which totaled 40,000 square feet of core, shell, and interiors, and two acres of site work including multiple bio-retention basins and a 300-yard, 30-foot-tall retaining wall); and Memjet (30,000 square feet of lab and office space).

In his spare time, Matt enjoys surfing, fishing, exercising, and spending time with family and friends.
