

Delivering Excellence in Everything We Do (Even on Wheels)

Lead From Within | Shay Hughes

At Hughes Marino, our core values mean everything to us, and we strive to make sure that we are meeting our own exceptionally high standards in all that we do. That's precisely why we are so excited about our brand new, one-of-a-kind, entirely customized Mercedes Sprinter van. Our investment in excellence-on-wheels was made to ensure we are upholding our core value of "Delivering excellence in everything we do." (It also quite literally allows us to "Enjoy the journey," which is HM core value #3).

The Hughes Marino Sprinter has many of the comforts of home, as we believe that the more our work spaces feel like home, the happier and more productive our team can be. That's why we were thrilled to have Bespoke Coachworks, a family owned company headquartered in Los Angeles, customize our new office-on-wheels with homey amenities including a built-in espresso maker, a small refrigerator, custom upholstery including heated reclining massage chairs, and two flat screen TVs equipped with surround sound, 4G wifi, a blue-ray DVD, and Apple TV.

Of course, the Hughes Marino Sprinter is more than just comfortable; it's incredibly functional as well. While en route to tour potential office locations with clients, our commercial real estate brokers are able to deliver multimedia presentations using an iPad and the ingenious LIA app which displays all our marketing materials on the van's television screens. LIA is a San Diego based startup (founded by a former Hughes Marino client) that has developed a new platform for sales reps to display secure content on mobile devices, and it's proving to be a wonderful solution for educating our clients while on the go.

Our new Sprinter will be used to chauffeur Hughes Marino team members and clients all around Southern California for commercial office space tours as well as to jet between our multiple offices in San Diego, Orange County and Los Angeles.

We are happy to report that our new Hughes Marino Mercedes Sprinter is already wowing our clients and our teammates at every turn.

Hughes Marino

Because Where You Do Business Matters™

Our new, fully-loaded Mercedes Sprinter is just one more way that we strive to WOW our clients at every turn.
