

Alex Farone

Vice President | alex.farone@hughesmarino.com

Alex Farone is a vice president at Hughes Marino, a global corporate real estate advisory firm that exclusively represents tenants and buyers. Based in Hughes Marino's Boston office, Alex represents tenants and buyers in their commercial real estate transactions and ensures his clients receive best-in-class service to help their businesses thrive.

Throughout every transaction, Alex is committed to partnering with his clients to strategically solve their complex real estate needs. His market knowledge and tenant-focused specialization align him with the specific objectives his clients are looking to achieve. His daily mission is to ensure his clients have an unparalleled experience while helping them achieve the goals of their organization. Before joining Hughes Marino, Alex was a retail and net-lease specialist at Marcus & Millichap, where he worked with some of the largest private owners in New England.

A Massachusetts native, Alex grew up in Winchester and attended Boston College High School. He graduated from Loyola University Maryland with a bachelor's degree in business administration and writing. Alex pioneered the installation of the Alpha Kappa Psi Chi Iota Chapter on campus, which served as the first professional business fraternity in the school's long history.

Alex currently resides in the West End neighborhood of Boston. In his free time, Alex enjoys action sports including wakeboarding, snowboarding and car racing. If there's ever a Boston sports game on, you can bet he's watching.
