Managing Director | austin@hughesmarino.com

Austin Lashley is a managing director at Hughes Marino, a global corporate real estate advisory firm that specializes in representing tenants and buyers. Based out of the firm's Seattle office, Austin has supported hundreds of companies through a diverse range of corporate real estate ventures. Business leaders actively seek his expertise to develop winning real estate strategies aligned with their business objectives, spanning lease renewals, relocations, building sales/purchases, build-to-suit projects and site selection.

Austin's professional journey is marked by a track record of success, assisting a multitude of industries including distribution, manufacturing, biotech, medical device, high-tech R&D and food services. His ability to precisely tailor solutions to align with clients' objectives has positioned him as a trusted advisor, serving locally owned Seattle businesses, as well as Fortune 500 companies across the nation.

Integrity and honesty serve as the cornerstones of Austin's client relationships. His contagious enthusiasm, competitive drive and client-centric mindset make him an invaluable asset to those he serves.

Austin graduated cum laude from Occidental College in Los Angeles with a bachelor's degree in economics, where he competed as a national collegiate level swimmer earning All-American honors in the 100-yard and 200-yard butterfly. He now currently resides in Seattle and enjoys exploring the outdoors with his friends and family in his free time.
